Students with 3.0 GPA's Clear for Honors Seminar

Students who have a 3.0 or higher grade point are eligible to participate in next year's Honors Seminar. Those interested are to meet in the Honors Seminar room, first floor of Loyola Hall, on Tuesday at 3 p.m., according to the dean of arts and sciences, the Rev. John A. Fitterer, S.J.

THE HONORS Seminar was initiated this year under the direction of the Rev. Thomas L. O'Brien, S.J. Next year's program will continue along the same lines, said Father Fitterer.

Twenty honors students from the schools of the university and the departments of the School of Arts and Sciences will be chosen from among the applicants. They will be chosen by the honors selection committee. The committee will be at the Tuesday meeting in Loyola.

"THOSE STUDENTS already interested in graduate work or those in education," said Father Fitterer, are the best material for this program."

Father added that "sophomores especially would be considered next year."

For further information, students should contact either Father O'Brien, director, or Father Fitterer.

EDITORIAL

High School 'Esprit'

This week the Spectator received four literary publications from other schools. One was from the University of Ottawa, two from the Jesuit University in Manila, and another which was by far the best.

The magazine was titled "Esprit." It contained 22 articles and poems written by students in a school-wide contest. The layout, artwork and quality of the whole magazine was excellent. It was produced by Gonzaga Prep.

THE MAGAZINE is the first produced at Prep, at least under the title of "Esprit." The editors were confident enough, however, to announce that it is published tri-annually.

One would suppose that students on a higher educational level would be the intellectual leaders of those following them in class years. Perhaps the situation has changed.

Seattle University has yet to produce a student literary publication of the quality of "Esprit." The reason for this, some might argue, is that we lack finances.

THERE IS NO student body fund allocation for a literary publication. How much of a demand has been made for one?

Then too, if the argument is raised that the budget is too limited to provide for such funds, one might question the wisdom of the present budget. How much money went to cheerleaders, to delegates attending conferences, to clubs in debt because of social functions?

THERE ARE items in the student body budget which could be reduced to make room for activities that are co-curricular. That is, if enough students believe these activities are important.

One high school believes they are.

WHAT TO SEE:

'Round town De De Hopkins

The Frye Art Museum, on Terry and Cherry, is exhibiting a group of 19th and early 20th century European and American paintings. These works are from the permanent exhibition paintings from the Charles and Emma Frye Collection.

THE COLLECTION is important in the area of Munich-Vienna School of painting of the 1850-1900 period. Franz von Lenbach, termed the most influential painter of this era, is known for his paintings of the aristocracy in Germany, Austria and Italy. A few of his works being displayed are: "Count Von Moltke," German hero of 1870-1871; "Pope Leo XIII" and "Portrait of Bismarck."

"Marine," by Nikolai Dubovskoi, captures the calm sky, still water and relaxed figures; the painting is characterized by calmness of mood and highly naturalistic treatment. In "The First Communion," by Juan Pablo Salinas, is shown the effect of color in fine details.

GABRIEL MAX CREATED a sensation and became established as an important artist as a result of the "Martyr on the Cross"; death is transfigured on the face of the young girl. German secessionist Franz von Stuck stirred Berlin by his exhibition of "Sin"; from the standpoint of public interest it was probably his most successful painting. He sought to find the simplest expression of sin—a figure of a woman with green-yellow skin against a contrasting dark background, with the serpent symbol of sin wound around her body. This work is probably the most striking of the whole collection.

Works by Ludwig von Zumbusch, Friedrich Uhde, Heinrich Zuzel, Ludwig Knaus are included in the collection. There are works of other artists, representing 13 nationalities and a diversity of schools of painting, displayed in this group.

The gallery hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays. It is also opened Wednesday evenings until 9 p.m. Sunday the museum opens at noon, until 6 p.m. Admission is free at all times.

THE MUSEUM OF HISTORY AND INDUSTRY, 2720 Lake Washington Blvd., now operated by the Seattle Historical Society, is the location of the musical program, "Scandinavian Museum Traditions in the Northwest," being presented Sunday, May 3, at 3 p.m.

This program is part of the series of informal musicals on Seattle's musical history. On display will be "Milestones of Music." It includes Indian musical instruments from before 1851 to the early 20th century. Among the display will be talking machines, Indian drums, the Victor talking dog, accordions and zithers.

THE SUNDAY PROGRAM will also include the "Nordiska Folk-dancers" in dancing costume from Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Finland. The event is from 12 noon to 5 p.m. There is no admission charge.

FIRST CAMPUS NEWSHOUND:

Wimbleton to Join 'Spec' Staff

Wimbleton is a 75-lb. police dog with a newspaper future.

This canine with a love for fresh meat has been guarding the Zimmerman plantation in Arlington, Wash. The Zimmermans reported no trespassers the last 10 months. (Wimbleton is 10 months old.)

WHY DOES Wimbleton have a newspaper future? His mistress, Walli Zimmerman, new "Spec" editor, made her first appointment for the coming year. Wimbleton.

In line with the popular trend, Miss Z. nominated W. for a new post—personal coordinator between the editor and the students.

"WIMBLETON," she said, "should be able to explain the policies of the paper very effectively."

"He has a way with people," she added. She didn't say which way.

NOT YET a newshound, pedigreed Wimbleton is sure to bite into many items.

Wimbleton has registered disapproval of the dog-eat-dog trend in the newspaper field. He prefers the dog-eat-people theory.

THE NEW EDITOR admitted that Wimbleton might hinder the flow of news and that he might cut complainers off at the ankle—or wherever else he gets hold of them. However, she was sure Wimbleton would be a lively addition to the staff—if they can get into the office.

The German Police dog realized he would lead a dog's life. "The fur will fly," he growled, "but it won't be mine. (Arf!)"

THE NEW EDITOR said Wimbleton likes handouts, but added that he will chew on held-out feet also.

The large dog will probably be caged outside the newspaper door. Plans are in process for a sign: "Wimbleton's pen is mightier than the sword."

Social Fraternity and Sorority Idea Called a 'Luxury' for SU Campus

By SHARON GRANT

Why doesn't Seattle U. have social fraternities and fraternities? Few students probably realize there is a University regulation which prohibits these organizations on campus.

The Rev. John A. Fitterer, S.J., dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, speaking unofficially, said the feeling is that as an institution Greek social groups do not fulfill the true objectives of a Catholic university.

Even without this regulation, though would our school have these institutions? As dean of men, the Rev. Robert J. Rebhahn, S.J., would be one of the faculty who would have to approve the initiation of such organizations.

FATHER REBAHN said, "It would seem that a substantial sum of money would be needed, and with a guarantee that the organization endure. Naturally, if the University had to put up the money then such an endeavor would be impossible. We are more interested now and for the next ten years at least, in providing adequate buildings for classroom space, library and gym facilities."

The approval of Miss Agnes Riley, dean of women, also is necessary in the initiation of Greek social groups.

IN THE OPINION of Miss Riley, "The university is not old enough co-educationalwise, to consider starting sororities right now. The benefits of a sorority are best realized in the sorority house situation. Since S.U. is not in a position at this time to provide such quarters, it does not seem feasible to organize sororities. They would almost have to be thought of as a luxury."

However both Miss Riley and Fr. Rebhahn expressed a desire to help any students who were interested in going into the situation more thoroughly, possibly through a committee in AWS or one of the service clubs.

"Is the time ripe for sororities and fraternities? No desire has been expressed to me," said Miss Riley.

To initiate such an idea, a lot of positive interest and action would definitely have to come from the students themselves. Apparently, no other group has ever attempted to establish them at Seattle U. This could mean that there was no desire at all among the students, or at least that the interest was not sufficient to be expressed as such, said Miss Riley.

OTHER CATHOLIC colleges, such as Loyola and Marquette, do have social fraternities and fraternities, showing that it is not absolutely impossible to establish these groups.

ASSU Positions Still Open

By RON GALLUCCI

Applications for presidential appointments to ASSU committees will be taken until May 14, according to Sam Brown, student body president-elect.

BROWN SAID that most appointments will be made this quarter. All students signing up will be considered and past chairmen and ASSU officers will also consider unlisted candidates that they feel are qualified.

Every person placing his signature on the lists will be interviewed. The interviewers will question each applicant on his qualifications and interest. A time will also be allotted for the person to explain any new suggestions he might have concerning the position.

NO CLASS restrictions will be levied for freshman orientation co-chairmen, financial board members, leadership conference chairmen, and personal representatives of the ASSU.

THE PERSONAL representative offices were just created and will operate on a trial basis next year. A formal definition of these positions will be made at a later date. Brown stated emphatically in a

Spectator interview and at Monday's senate meeting that these representatives are not spokesmen for the ASSU officers in their absence.

HE WAS FEARFUL that the personal representative title might be misleading. He explained that the chief duty of the representatives was to coordinate information between the ASSU office and the campus clubs.

Each representative will have an assigned "district." This "district" will consist of a chosen group of clubs to which he will be responsible.

Most appointments will be made sometime in late May.

Brown, Ruljancich to Attend President's Convention in Reno

ASSU President Mark Ruljancich and President-elect Sam Brown were appointed this week as delegates to the Pacific Student Presidents Association Convention, May 6-9 in Reno, Nevada.

Philosophy Meet At SU Next Year

Seattle U. will host the Northwest Conference on Philosophy next spring, according to the Rev. J. Gerard Bussy, S.J., newly elected president of the conference.

Father Bussy stressed that the office of president automatically goes to the head of the host school's delegation. "It is a matter of convenience," said Father.

Three faculty members and nine students attended the 11th annual conference at Washington State University last week end.

Father Bussy delivered a paper on "Existence and Some Logicians."

REPRESENTATIVES from the entire West Coast will be present at the convention. "It is our only opportunity to exchange ideas with schools other than those in our own vicinity," stated Ruljancich.

The primary purposes of the PSPA Convention are: (1) the exchange of ideas on the theory and projects of the various student governments participating; and (2) allowing the incoming officers to benefit from the experience of the preceding year's officers.

SUCH SU activities as the Leadership Conference, Parents' Week End and the High School Leadership Conference are a result of ideas gained from participation in the PSPA Conference, added Ruljancich.

COULD IT BE DEWEY'S ghost listening to the Rev. J. Gerard Bussy, S.J., explain his theories on modern education April 21?

Besides holding the office of student body president, Mark is a member of Alpha Sigma Nu and was Judicial Board chairman. His tentative plans include going on for his doctorate and then teaching.

'Teahouse' Sunday

"Teahouse of the August Moon" will be shown Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in Pigott Auditorium.

Sponsored by Scabbard and Blade, the movie stars Marlon Brando and Red Buttons. It is in technicolor and cinemascope.

Admission is 35 cents and chairman is Don Mannion.

SONGEST chairman John Blankenship announced that the clubs are three floors of Marycrest, Spurs and the Marycrest Choir. They will be competing in the women's division.

In the men's division are Xavier, Regis and A Phi O; and the only group participating in the mixed voices group will be Hiyu Coulee.

AMONG the songs the groups will sing are: "Alleluia," by Mozart; "Coming Through the Rye," "The Chicken Song," "Nairobi Folk Song," "The Holy City," "Deep in My Heart, Dear," "The Bells of St. Mary's," "Tumbling Tumbleweed" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

There will be a first place trophy in the men's and women's divisions and a sweepstakes award for the group judged best of all nine.

The groups will be judged on appearance, preparation, harmony, presentation, directorship and audience appeal.

Silver Scroll Meets

There will be a Silver Scroll meeting Sunday at 7 p.m. in the Marycrest Lounge, according to president Celine Hulbert.

Senate Grants Confab Funds

Allotting funds for two conventions was the main topic of business at the student senate meeting Monday.

SAM BROWN and Mark Ruljancich will attend the Pacific Student President Association convention, May 6 through 9 at Reno, Nev. Funds allotted the delegates are $129.

Seventy dollars will be given the delegates to the Evergreen Students Conference Association conference, April 31 through May 2.

SENATOR Oneal McGowan moved that the constitution of the Pershing Rifles be accepted and the motion passed.

Senator Paul Turner moved that the student counsel investigate rumors that the delegates to the CNCCS, April 24-26, did not fulfill their duties. The motion lost by an 8-5 vote with one abstention.

SENATOR Denny Johnson moved that a report be made on the CNCCS by the voting delegate to that convention. The motion was passed and senate chairman Burke Harrell requested that Senator Mary Grace LaBuda, voting delegate, make her report at the next meeting.

The next meeting of the senate is May 4.

Summer Quarter To Start June 18

Registration for summer quarter will be June 17. Classes will begin June 18 and final examinations will be August 10 and 11. A full quarter's credit can be gained in this session of less than eight weeks.

CLASSES will run 60 minutes with a 10-minute break between classes. The first morning class will commence at 8 a.m.

Tuition is the same as the regular sessions. Any registration after June 17 is considered late and a $5 fee will be charged. June 23 is the last day for late registration.

THE CAFETERIA will be open from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m., during the summer. The library will also be open on all class days from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Veterans planning to attend under P.L. 550 (Korean Bill) should obtain a certificate of eligibility from the V.A. before enrolling.

O'Brien's Coaching Methods Lead Chief Baseball Squad to Success

By JERRY LAVELL

"He is really smooth in the way he handles the club." This is the way that John Bird, senior baseball manager, described the manner in which Coach Eddie O'Brien directs his team.

O'BRIEN, who is also athletic director, is making his debut as a collegiate baseball coach. His record to date is enviable. His charges captured the Seattle Collegiate Baseball Tournament and are on the verge of qualifying for the NCAA Regional Baseball playoffs.

If the Chieftains can get past Gonzaga, they will be one of the top teams in the Northwest. They will have a 13-2 record and will have a good chance to get the nod for the tournament.

WHAT IS responsible for the success of the Chieftains? This outsider's answer would be Coach O'Brien. The former Pittsburgh Pirate inherited a wealth of material when he took over as head baseball coach. But many coaches have had the material and failed to win. O'Brien's success is due to four factors: material, experience, the will-to-win and team spirit.

His team is built around a nucleus of veterans. In one sense it is young but still, at the same time, aged. Gary Pennington and Bob Simmons are the only seniors on the team. But still O'Brien could field a team with the average age of 23½.

Team hitting has improved since the beginning of the year. Don Piasecki, Tom Trautman and Larry McCauley found their range against Portland U. The Pilots are rated as a good team.

THE PITCHERS are coming along, with Don Carlson and Bob Simmons receiving good support from Mike Swayne, Bill Dodeward and Frank Keenan. Lloyd BURGART and Kent Sakamoto are leading the team batting, with .324 and .345 averages, respectively.

O'Brien's catching department has three lettermen: Don Glitschka, Dick Mandeville and Doug Orr.

O'BRIEN'S ABILITY to play al-

most any position and his experience as a big-leaguer are other factors contributing to the team's success. While playing with Pittsburgh and other clubs, Coach O'Brien had the chance to see and learn at first hand the things that go into the makeup of a good ball club and a good individual player. In turn, he has passed on this knowledge to his team.

The youthful mentor has established a system of fines that has made the team aware of the mistakes that can be made on and off the playing field.

THE FINES range from 10 cents to $1. The offenses include such things as: not wearing a batting helmet; swearing on the ball field; bat-throwing and failure to hustle on and off the field.

The heaviest fine is $1 and that is for getting thrown out of the game. All of the fine money is collected by O'Brien and statistician Bob Klug and is being put away until the end of the year. There are 23 infractions that could be incurred by the ballplayers.

Since O'Brien has a definite will-to-win, the fine list is a tangible way of seeing that the players adhere to the fundamentals of good ball.

ALL THREE things mentioned so far, material, coach's experience and will-to-win, would not be enough for a winning ball club. Many times during past games the team has been down four or five runs and come back to win. Some clubs would have faltered if they were in the same position and only a good team spirit made the come-backs possible.

Where will the team go from here? They have all of the qualities of a winning team. They have a good attitude, good material, good spirit and they possess a good coach. With a little luck they will have one of the best seasons in years.

VIVE LE POPCORN!

The other day as I was walking down the street picking up tinfoil, (Marlboro, incidentally, has the best tinfoil, which is not surprising when you consider that they have the best cigarettes, which is not surprising when you consider that they take the best filters and put them together with the best tobaccos and rush them to your tobacco counter, fresh and firm and loaded with smoking pleasure). The other day, I say, as I was walking down the street picking up tinfoil, (I have, incidentally, the second largest ball of tinfoil in our family. My brother Eleanor's is bigger—more than four miles in diameter—but, of course, he is taller than I). The other day, as I was saying, while walking down the street picking up tinfoil, I passed a campus and right beside it, a movie theatre which specialized in showing foreign films. Most campuses have foreign movie theatres close by, because foreign movies are full of culture, art, and esoterica, and where is culture more rife, art more rampant, and esoterica more endemic than on a campus?

Nowhere; that's where.

I hope you have all been taking advantage of your local foreign film theatre. Here you will find no simple-minded Hollywood products, marked by treacly sentimentality and machine-made bravura. Here you will find life itself—in all its grimness, its poverty, its naked, raw passion!

Have you, for instance, seen the recent French import, Le Crayon de Mon Oncle ("The Kneecap"), a savage and uncompromising story of a man named Claude, whose consuming ambition is to get a job as a meter reader with the Paris water department? But he is unable, alas, to afford the flashlight one needs for this position. His wife, Bon-Bon, sells her hair to a wigmaker and buys him a flashlight. Then, alas, Claude discovers that one also requires a leatherette bow tie. This time his two young daughters, Caramel and Nougat, sell their hair to a wigmaker. So now Claude has his leatherette bow tie, but now, alas, his flashlight battery is burned out and the whole family, alas, is bald.

Or have you seen the latest Italian masterpiece, La Donna E Mobile (I Ache All Over), a heart-shattering tale of a boy and his dog? Malvolio, a Venetian lad of nine, loves his little dog with every fibre of his being. He has one great dream: to enter the dog in the annual Venetian dog show. But this, alas, requires an entrance fee, and Malvolio, alas, is penniless. However, he saves and scrimps and steals and finally gets enough together to enter the dog in the show. The dog, alas, comes in twenty-third. Malvolio sells him to a vivisectionist.

Or have you seen the new Japanese triumph, Kibutzi-San (The Radish), a pulse-stirring historical romance about Yamoto, a poor farmer, and his daughter Ethel who are accosted by a warlord one morning on their way to market? The warlord cuts Yamoto in half with his samurai sword and runs off with Ethel. When Yamoto recovers, he seeks out Ethel's fiancé, Red Buttons, and together they find the warlord and kill him. But, alas, the warlord was also a sorcerer and he whimsically turned Ethel into a whooping crane. Loyal Red Buttons takes Ethel home where he feeds her fish heads for twenty years and keeps hoping she'll turn back into a woman. She never does. Alas.

Seven Attend Evergreen Conference

The annual spring convention of the Evergreen Conference Students' Association will be today through Saturday at Western Washington College of Education.

DELEGATES from Seattle U. are Mark Ruljancich, Jim Nagle, Larry Goodman, Pat Pavelka, Sam Brown and Ed Nystrom.

The convention, which opened this morning with breakfast and a welcoming address by the president of WWCE, will include a number of seminars on student government. S.U. delegate Mark Ruljancich will lead a seminar on "Orientation of a Student Body President." Other topics are "Giving the Value of the Activity Fee" and "Orientation of ASB Officers."

ECSA IS designed to help small Northwest colleges and universities with the problems of student government. Participating schools are PLC, SPC, WWCE, S.U., CWCE, Gonzaga U., CPS, Whitworth and St. Martin's. Washington State University, not a member of the conference, will send observers.

ECSA PURPOSES, as stated in their manual, are: to promote good will among schools of higher learning; find solutions for common problems; establish and maintain high standards of scholarship in institutions which are members of ECSA and those coming under its influence; express, for aspiring leaders, Association policy in the field of student affairs.

The single most important contribution of ECSA, according to voting delegate Ed Nystrom, is the pool of information through which students work together to solve problems. "We hope to draw information from this pool," said Nystrom, "to benefit the school and our student government."

St. Martin's Invites Co-eds To Annual Spring Ranger Day

The annual Ranger Day Week End at St. Martin's College in Olympia will be May 16 and 17, AWS president Sue Hohl said today.

COST IS $3.25 per person for two meals and overnight lodging. A men's resident hall will be vacated to accommodate the women students.

Activities scheduled include a baseball game between Western Washington and St. Martin's, dinner, dancing, a bonfire and hayride on Saturday. A picnic with swimming and games is slated for Sunday.

TRANSPORTATION will be provided, but girls who have cars available are asked to supply rides. Women students interested in attending are to sign a list in the AWS office.

"The number of women students eligible is limited," said Sue, "so those who sign up first will be the ones chosen."
